

How to mark clips

1. When should I mark a video clip?

- Mark once per clip
- At the end of a good comment.

FOR EXAMPLE:

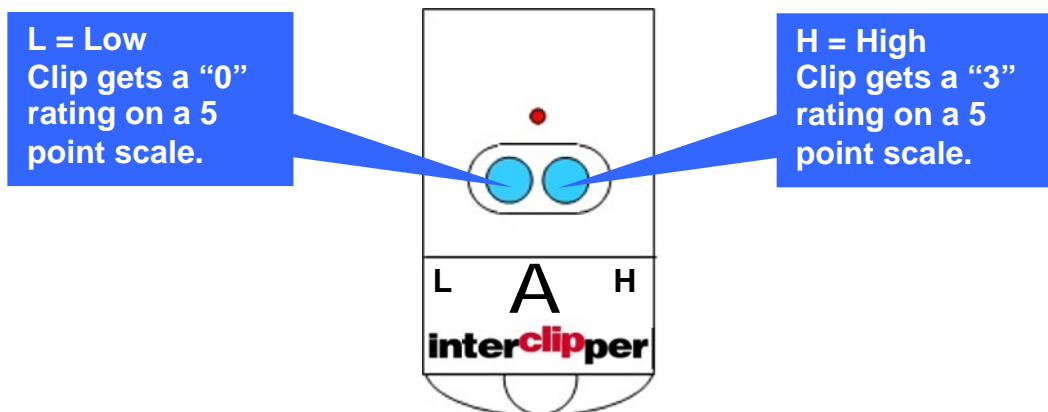

“ .... blah blah .... blah blah ... now I'm saying good stuff and I stopped.”

Then when you play it back in InterClipper it will start playing 10 seconds before you marked it so you'll hear at least 10 seconds of good stuff. If it's really good stuff you can change the start and the stop of the clip to get exactly the right clip to export to email and PowerPoint. Everything is recorded so you won't miss anything.

Mark the same way when you're marking while playing back. Feel free to mark as many clips as you want. It's easy to skip through the clips.

2. Which button should I push?

Clips can be sorted in InterClipper by who marked the clip or by the rating of the clip (or other information as well.)

Who marks the clip is determined by which marker is used: A, B, C or D.

The clip rating is determined by which button you push. All clips have a 5 point rating scale so you can rate and sort the clips according to the scale. The left or "L" button gives the clip a "0" rating. The right or "H" button gives it a "3" rating. Then as soon as you open up the Project you can review the clips rated "3" right away. You can change these ratings later at any time. You can also add ratings to unrated clips.
